Why study with us?

Our award-winning lecturers have extensive academic and industry expertise and are dedicated to helping you succeed. In addition to class contact time, we offer academic advice, peer-assisted study sessions, work-integrated learning opportunities and employment services to ensure you reach your potential.

Choose business
Challenge yourself and develop the skills to thrive in constantly changing and highly competitive business environments. The Business School’s vast network of industry contacts means you can develop practical experience and professional connections through internships at some of the world’s biggest companies. Studying business opens up opportunities for a wide range of change-making careers in the public, private and not-for-profit sectors.

Choose commerce
Commerce graduates have extensive career options in accounting and consulting firms, public and private companies, financial institutions and government in Australia and internationally. Throughout your program, you will develop strong technical knowledge and skills in critical evaluation and problem-solving, along with practical application. Broaden your opportunities by taking part in internships, industry placements or international student exchanges while working towards an internationally recognised qualification that will allow you to adapt to, manage and influence the dynamic business world.

Choose economics
Economics develops your analytical, modelling and forecasting skills, and instils an understanding of how society uses the world’s scarce resources. These skills are in high demand by businesses, consultancies, governments and international agencies. Your economics program will equip you for a meaningful career helping to resolve some of the world’s greatest challenges, including business productivity and investment decisions, the allocation of humanitarian aid, complex environmental issues and the ageing population.

Choose law
UQ Law School is the oldest law school in Queensland and one of Australia’s leading research-intensive law schools. Our teaching methods are future-oriented and have changed over time to cover contemporary case studies and to prepare students for an ever-evolving legal profession. We foster a comprehensive and sophisticated understanding of the law that will see you develop practical legal skills, stimulate thoughtful debate – with a focus on ethical and social responsibility – and nurture enthusiasm for the study of law.

Choose tourism
Gain a rewarding international career in tourism, hospitality or event management. Tourism blends core business skills and industry knowledge with valuable practical experience, ensuring you receive a well-rounded education. You’ll learn to provide solutions to industry-specific challenges, such as sustainability, risk and resilience through industry adversity, and create meaningful change in your chosen field. Our graduates pursue careers in event management, food and beverage management, hotel and resort management, consultancy, wholesale and retail travel, and tourism marketing.

Get involved
Our active student body and student associations help you get the most from your program by providing study support, professional development and social networking opportunities.

A career based on passion doesn’t have to be linear

What you study can help you achieve a career in an area you’re passionate about.

By tailoring your studies to match your interests, you’ll be able to follow your passion while developing your knowledge and skills. The degree you graduate with will open infinite job possibilities across current and emerging industries. You’ll be prepared to tackle emerging global challenges in various roles and ready to create meaningful change.

Where could a degree in business, economics and law take your career?

With a degree in business, economics or law, endless career opportunities and experiences in a range of sectors are possible.

From tourism and hospitality management to entrepreneurship and innovation, a degree in business can empower you with distinct leadership capabilities to drive change across industries.

For those who choose to study economics, your career might span the private, public and non-profit sectors and explore issues relating to sustainability, health and investment.

A degree in law can create unique career opportunities in business enterprises, human rights issues and international law.

No matter what you’re passionate about, discover study options that align with your interests and career goals in business, economics or law.

“The fields of law and economics turned out to have more in common than I expected. Economics is more than just graphs and mathematical equations – it’s a social science. It involves studying what motivates people, the decisions people make in certain circumstances, and the costs of these decisions. At the end of the day, both law and economics are all about humanity.”

Are you an international student?

While a lot of information in this guide is relevant to you, certain key information may be different for international students.

You are an international student if you are:
• not a citizen of Australia or New Zealand, or
• not an Australian permanent resident, or
• a temporary resident (visa status) of Australia.

Eligibility for UQ study
For admission into undergraduate programs at UQ, you must have:
• completed secondary studies equivalent to Queensland Year 12 with a score comparable to the ATAR specified for your program
• satisfied individual program requirements (e.g. specific subject prerequisites, auditions or interviews)
• satisfied UQ’s English language proficiency requirements.

If you do not meet these criteria, you might consider taking a foundation program bridging course or English language pathway offered by UQ College.

Fees
As an international student, you will pay tuition fees, and potentially other non-tuition fees. UQ has program-based tuition fees for coursework award programs, meaning that all courses within a program are charged at the same tuition fee rate per unit for a given academic year. Some programs also have additional costs. Non-tuition fees paid to the University may include the student services and amenities fee, books and equipment, health insurance, administration, accommodation and assistance to apply for or hold a student visa.
study.uq.edu.au/admissions/undergraduate/review-fees-and-financial-support

Other expenses
International students applying to study in Australia must have a student visa or an alternative visa that enables them to study full-time on campus. Please consider expenses such as visa and medical (pre-departure) fees, general living expenses, establishment costs such as buying furniture, paying a rental bond and setting up electricity, gas and mobile phone accounts, as well as return airfares and Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) when you plan your budget.

Top ranked
The Business School fosters courageous thinkers, and empowers future leaders, to positively transform business and society. We are renowned for our cutting-edge research, outstanding academic staff, depth of educational programs and close links with leading global organisations. Our research and consulting activities ensure that our teaching is at the forefront of academic and industry knowledge. You’ll take in the most current and relevant theory and apply the skills you'll learn through internships and industry projects.

Academic and industry leaders
Our world-class lecturers are consultants and advisers to leading companies worldwide. The majority of our academic staff members hold PhDs and produce research papers that are cited in the world’s top-tier journals. This expertise ensures our teaching is relevant and informed by the latest research. Our programs cover a broad scope of business disciplines and our lecturers supervise a diverse range of Higher Degree by Research (HDR) topics.

Push your boundaries
You will have access to industry leaders for real-life projects, as mentors and internship supervisors, through a range of opportunities such as work-integrated learning and the Student Managed Investment Fund. These programs will build on the skills you’ll learn throughout your degree and prepare you to become a future business leader.

Careers
The diversity of our programs ensures our graduates are in demand across a wide range of industries within the public, private and not-for-profit sectors. Many of our alumni work in leadership positions in accounting, banking and financial services, consultancy, data analytics, event management, marketing, state and federal government, business development, tourism and business information systems.

1st
The first business school in Australia to earn both the European Quality Improvement System (EQUIS) and Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) accreditation.
Bachelor of Advanced Business (Honours)

The Bachelor of Advanced Business (Honours) (BAdvBus(Hons)) program will support you to become a critical and reflective thinker, capable of identifying, analysing and developing solutions for the complex challenges facing businesses in the 21st century.

Why advanced business at UQ?
Our 4-year honours program is limited to a small, highly motivated and high-achieving cohort aspiring to leadership roles in business, the community or academia. The courses in this program are designed to make you stand out to employers and are taught by internationally respected industry experts and academics. Our unique capstone course in leadership and strategy will provide an opportunity for you to apply your knowledge and skills to real business cases.

What you will study
You'll study a wide range of advanced business courses, providing the most comprehensive set of business skills of any undergraduate program at UQ. Learn how to communicate and engage with customers and employees of your organisation; use analytics to understand the dynamic nature of marketplaces; design, measure and assess financial and business decisions; identify and capitalise on business opportunities; and manage business internationally and across cultures. These are only a few examples of the many exciting topics our courses cover.

You can select from 2 pathways:
1. The professional pathway allows you to take courses from the Business School's specialist teaching areas.
2. The research pathway is offered via a thesis for those who want to enter into a higher degree by research (HDR).

Career opportunities
On graduation, you will have a globally recognised honours degree that will help you stand out in a competitive job market. Within this program, you will also have the opportunity to take part in an industry placement or project-based course with leading experts and industry partners. Alternatively, this program can be used as a stepping stone to further research in industry or academia.

"Choosing to study Advanced Business was an easy decision because it is a hybrid between Commerce and Business Management, giving me the opportunity to graduate with a unique skill set. I love how the cohort is small and a lot of the classes are exclusive to our degree, which creates a tight-knit community."

Karen Liang
Bachelor of Advanced Business (Honours) graduate Bachelor of
Advanced Finance and Economics (Honours)

The Bachelor of Advanced Finance and Economics (Honours) (BAdvFin&Econ(Hons)) is your passport to becoming a leader in the fields of finance and economics.

Why advanced finance and economics at UQ?
This program closely integrates the disciplines of economics and finance and allows you to focus on core areas at a high level. Experience courses exclusive to this program where you'll forge lifelong personal and professional connections with your cohort.

Working with our world-class academic staff will help you establish strong links with leading employers. You may also have the opportunity to study a semester abroad at one of our prominent international partner universities.

What you will study
What are the economic and social outcomes of policy changes? What effect has the global financial crisis had on macroeconomic theory and monetary policy? Which financial issues confront most companies? Explore these issues and more in this interdisciplinary program jointly taught by the Business School and the School of Economics.

You will develop the analytical rigour and technical knowledge to be an economist in a variety of public and private sector careers or a leader in finance, investment banking, capital markets, equity or venture capital.

At the end of your third year, you will choose to major in either economics or finance, or complete a more general pathway and undertake a range of electives, an individual research topic and a team project.

Career opportunities
Potential career pathways include investment banking, funds management, management and financial consulting, economics, international finance and trade, or employment with a government agency such as the Reserve Bank of Australia. You may also go on to study for a higher degree by research (HDR).

Honours
Honours is awarded to all graduates of this program in the following classes (based on GPA): Class I, Class IIA, Class IIB, Class IIIA, Class IIIB.

Majors
You can develop greater depth of knowledge by undertaking a major in finance or economics to align with your desired career. A major consists of courses from one area of specialisation to provide additional insight into the discipline. Undertaking a major may lead to further study in the discipline through a higher degree by research, such as a PhD.

Bachelor of Business Management graduate
Bachelor of Commerce

The Bachelor of Commerce (BCom) will equip you with the fundamental knowledge, necessary skills and a strong commercial focus for a career in accounting, financial management, banking, business analysis, business information systems and management.

Why commerce at UQ?
Equip yourself with the knowledge, focus and skills for a career in accounting, banking, finance or business analytics. After examining the fundamental principles of commerce, you’ll learn how to apply and adapt them in response to specific challenges faced by businesses. You’ll build specialised knowledge and skills by studying up to 2 majors. With 4 diverse majors to choose from, you can deep dive into your area of interest.

What you will study
How can business performance be measured and assessed? How can company, project and investment value be determined to make buy/sell decisions? How do foreign markets, derivatives and debt markets affect a client’s portfolio? How can big data be analysed to add value? What issues arise from operating in a virtual corporate environment?

You will investigate these topics and more as you study our commerce program. You’ll also have the opportunity to build on your skills through initiatives like the Student Managed Investment Fund where you can manage a real Australian Securities Exchange (ASX) portfolio.

If you are seeking an in-depth understanding of how accounting, business information systems, business analytics and finance add value to business and the global economy, then this program is for you.

Career opportunities
This program will set you up for a thriving career in the public or private sector in accounting, banking, financial management, business analysis, business information systems and general management.

Honours
Our honours program is a challenging and rewarding additional year of study. As an honours student, you will hone your business and finance knowledge and skills through research and advanced coursework. Honours is a small-intake program, admitting only the top graduates from the Bachelor of Commerce.

Note: The honours program is currently being reviewed to prepare the best experience for our incoming students.

Majors
This program provides you with a comprehensive foundation for a successful career in business and commerce. Compulsory courses in areas such as management accounting, finance and information systems will equip you with necessary core commerce skills. You’ll then build on these by undertaking up to two majors relevant to your desired career. Choose from Accounting, Business Analytics, Business Information Systems, and Finance.

Bachelor of Tourism, Hospitality and Event Management

The Bachelor of Tourism, Hospitality and Event Management (BTHEM) will open up exciting career opportunities for you in the global tourism industry. This program will prepare you for a successful professional and managerial career in tourism, hospitality or events.

Why tourism, hospitality and event management at UQ?
The Business School is internationally recognised for its tourism programs and is the only Australian university to offer programs with UNWTO.TedQual* certification. The BTHEM program blends cutting-edge research and theory with practical exercises to develop your managerial abilities and business acumen. Our lecturers have strong industry and research experience and are highly skilled at integrating this expertise with their teaching.

A special feature of this program is its connection to industry, which offers you access to guest speakers, work-integrated learning opportunities, Disney World internships, and domestic and international study tours.

* United Nations World Tourism Organization Tourism Education Qualification
 Current travel restrictions permitting

What you will study
How can we design experiences and events that enhance the environmental, socio-cultural and economic impacts of tourism? How are emerging technologies impacting the way we travel? What strategies will be needed to manage tourist destinations, attractions and accommodation venues of the future?

You’ll examine all these issues and more as part of the BTHEM. You’ll have opportunities to develop, promote and deliver events, design and market tourist facilities and attractions, and engage in and evaluate hospitality encounters. Contemporary issues such as sustainability, innovation and customer service will be explored at local, regional and global levels. You will learn to develop solutions to current and future industry challenges, creating change wherever you go.

Career opportunities
With our advanced management training and impressive professional networks, you will be well positioned for a promising career in the tourism, hospitality or events industries. Our graduates are in high demand with employers both locally and internationally in a range of fields such as the design, marketing and management of tourism experiences, destinations, events, resorts, hotels and restaurants.

Honours
Gain a competitive advantage and move into our Bachelor of Business Management (Honours) program, which functions as an extra year of high-quality study. You’ll complete a research thesis to show employers you have what it takes to excel in the tourism, hospitality and events industries. The high-level research skills you develop will open up further opportunities for you in industry, or they could lead to a higher degree by research (HDR) program.

Note: The honours program is currently being reviewed to prepare the best experience for our incoming students.

School of Economics
Study with one of the largest and most influential economics schools in Australia.

Highly ranked
UQ’s School of Economics is consistently ranked in the top 5 per cent of research-intensive economics departments in the world.* Our world-class academic staff and diverse courses will equip you with theoretical knowledge to address real-life problems.
Economics provides meaningful solutions to many of the big issues facing our world such as climate change, ageing populations, complex international trade negotiations, and financial competition in an increasingly globalised world.

* Research Papers in Economics (RePEc)

Push your boundaries
Our stimulating academic environment attracts the brightest and best economics students from around the country and internationally. You will be encouraged to be part of the rigorous debates that challenge and extend conventional economic thought.

Academic and industry leaders
Our accomplished scholars claim a large share of Australia’s economics honours, competitive research grants, prestigious fellowships and high-quality publications. We are home to more than 60 active teaching and research staff, including specialists in energy and climate change, productivity and efficiency analysis, development economics, and labour and agricultural economics.

Careers
Our graduates work as economists in consultancies, financial services firms and global corporations, as well as for government and international agencies including the Reserve Bank of Australia, the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund and federal and state treasuries. Training in economics teaches you to analyse and make decisions – skills in demand in most professions – which is why economics is one of the most popular combinations in dual programs.

Are you a future Indigenous economist?
Each year, UQ’s School of Economics offers a number of scholarships to Indigenous undergraduate students starting their journey at UQ.
economics.uq.edu.au/study/indigenous
Why economics at UQ?

UQ is the only institution in Queensland, and one of a select few in Australia, to offer the Bachelor of Economics. The School of Economics is Queensland’s largest, most experienced and influential economics school, with more than 60 teaching and research staff. Our School’s research-intensive focus ensures content is engaging and relevant for graduates today and into the future. Throughout this program, you will develop a range of statistical and analytical tools you can use to solve pivotal policy and decision-making challenges for business and government.

What you will study

What does it mean if the Reserve Bank of Australia reduces the cash rate? How can economies protect themselves against climate change? What are the benefits of free trade and do economic sanctions work? How can the government encourage innovation? These are just some of the questions that a Bachelor of Economics at UQ will help you answer.

Initially, you will develop core economic skills through a set of compulsory courses. You will then be able to tailor the program to your interests by choosing elective courses in areas such as econometrics, financial markets, international trade and development, and the economics of business, health, labour, resources and the environment.

Career opportunities

Economics graduates are in high demand by employers across a wide variety of industries. You could work as an analyst, adviser, consultant, economist or researcher in a range of fields including international consulting, infrastructure development and planning, environmental management, international finance, investment and trade, natural resource and agricultural economics, public health, treasury, and statistics.

Honours

Our honours program is an extra year of intensive study for high-achieving students within a small-group learning environment. Honours will equip you with an advanced set of economics and research skills that will prove valuable as an economist or if you pursue a higher degree by research (HDR) program.

Note: The honours program is currently being reviewed to prepare the best experience for our incoming students.

“The research and work that I have completed has been engaging and fulfilling, with much relevance to real and current issues. I have deepened my understanding of micro- and macro-economics, and furthered my analytical skills, enabling me to think about where my career could lead.”

Oscar Pollack
Bachelor of Economics student
Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics (Honours)

The Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics (Honours) (BPPE(Hons)) program combines rigorous cross-disciplinary training and explores global policy challenges to help you pursue a leadership career in business, politics, the not-for-profit sector or academia.

Why politics, philosophy and economics at UQ?

UQ is part of a distinguished group of world-leading universities offering a Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics (Honours). We are the only university in Queensland to offer the program and one of only a handful in Australia.

This cross-disciplinary program combines broad and rigorous training in the foundations of politics, philosophy and economics.

Our schools are home to internationally renowned scholars. School of Economics academics claim a disproportionate share of Australia’s economics honours, competitive research grants and fellowships. The School of Political Science and International Studies is one of the world’s leading centres for the study of national and global politics, and is ranked second in Australia for political sciences (ShanghaiRanking’s Global Ranking of Academic Subjects 2022).

What you will study

You will study together as a cohort of highly motivated and high-achieving Politics, Philosophy and Economics (PPE) specialists, drawing on a historical, social, political and economic knowledge base to examine current and future global challenges.

Honours

Honours is awarded to all graduates of this program in the following classes (based on GPA): Class I, Class IIA, Class IIB, Class IIIA, Class IIIB.

Majors

From your second year, you may choose to specialise in one particular discipline, earning a major in Politics, Philosophy or Economics.

Politics

You will explore theories of governance and politics to gain a good overarching understanding of governance and politics, and use case studies of particular policies and institutions to study, in greater detail, the interactions of state and market.

Careers: Graduates enjoy careers in policymaking areas such as government, the public and not-for-profit sectors, and business.

Philosophy

The study of philosophy will introduce you to key ideas in a range of areas of inquiry including epistemology, ethics, logic, metaphysics, the history of philosophy, and the philosophy of disciplines such as the arts, science, education and politics.

You will receive intellectual training in the critical evaluation of theories and learn how to construct arguments and communicate ideas in a clear and powerful way. You will also acquire advanced analytical reasoning skills and general problem-solving abilities. In addition, philosophy will help you develop sound methods of research and analysis that can be applied in your other courses.

Careers: Graduates enjoy careers in fields including diplomatic and foreign affairs, the arts, financial services, business, law, public policy, social science, teaching, and academia.

Economics

The study of economics is central to the understanding of business, markets, trade, government policies, international issues, globalisation, health, development and the environment. You will undertake coursework in microeconomics and macroeconomics, including relevant study of econometrics.

Careers: Graduates enjoy careers as analysts, advisers or economists in the public and private sectors in fields including business, finance, international development, management and research.
Career opportunities
You will be sought after by employers for analytical and decision-making positions in the public, private and not-for-profit sectors, as an economic or social analyst, policymaker, public commentator, political adviser, or as a leader in international affairs or diplomatic services.
You will also be well prepared for postgraduate study. You may choose to further your research ambitions by enrolling in a Master of Philosophy or PhD program, where you will continue to develop your skills and make significant contributions to knowledge.

Professional memberships
As a graduate, you may be eligible for memberships with a diverse range of professional bodies:

“As a PPE(Hons) student, you can shape your studies to suit your ambitions. I love that this degree combines maths analysis, economics, writing and philosophy. I feel confident going into any project or job knowing I’m well-rounded and can tackle any problem thrown at me.”

UQ Law School has fostered strong working relationships with the community and the legal profession. Through these relationships, our students influence the law and its institutions for the benefit of society.

The UQ Pro Bono Centre
Since 2009, the UQ Pro Bono Centre has fostered students’ participation in providing legal assistance and support for pro bono and public interest work. The Centre partners with community legal centres, the not-for-profit sector and barristers undertaking public interest pro bono legal work.
By applying your classroom learning to real-life situations, you will make important contributions to unmet legal needs in your community — all before graduation.

Clinical Legal Education
Gain valuable work experience for academic credit in a social justice setting through the Clinical Legal Education elective (LAWS5180), where you will undertake legal work under the close supervision of experienced lawyers.

Pro Bono Roster
The Centre’s Pro Bono Roster provides volunteer opportunities within community organisations and the legal profession. A variety of flexible roles are available to suit your skills and emerging areas of expertise. Roles may include performing research for law reform submissions, working on policy or casework matters, or providing on-site assistance to community legal centres.

Law Education and Outreach
Our Law Education and Outreach program involves law students researching, writing and delivering lessons and seminars to high schools and the community. The current areas of law education are Asylum and Refugee Law, International Humanitarian Law, and Domestic and Family Violence and the Law.

Co-curricular Education Program
In partnership with the UQ Law Alumni Association, the Co-curricular Education Program complements core areas of study to give you a real-world understanding of how the concepts you are studying manifest in legal practice.
All first-year students have the opportunity to participate in an immersion day at the Supreme Court that includes a guided tour, observation of a trial, and presentations by eminent legal professionals.

Internships and work experience
You can gain valuable work experience by undertaking an internship. Prospective employers value work experience and interning as a great way for you to develop your skills and enhance your CV.

The Aurora Native Title Internship Program
This program places Australian law students with Native Title Representative Bodies (NTRB) and other Indigenous organisations. Typical duties include preparing briefs for counsel and government submissions, conducting legal research, preparing affidavits, and attending court with NTRB staff.

The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions Work Experience Placement Program
Aimed at law students with a genuine interest in criminal law, this program will give you exposure to a variety of criminal law matters and will develop your knowledge of the criminal justice system.

Transnational Perspectives in Law
As part of Transnational Perspectives in Law (LAWS5233), you may travel to a variety of international locations for short durations, or work virtually in groups, to make a real contribution to justice in other countries. Examples of projects include:
• environmental sustainability projects in Indonesia
• working with a non-profit access to justice initiative in Laos
• internship at Samoa Law Reform Commission.

Research and publication
You will be encouraged to engage in in-depth research on contemporary legal issues and be supported in your efforts to have your research published. You will have opportunities to work closely with leading academics across a variety of areas through research-intensive course options and our Summer Scholars Program. The LAWS5181 Law Journals course provides selected students with the opportunity to be part of the editorial team of the Australian International Law Journal.

Mooting

Mooting competitions are mock legal hearings in which legal or factual arguments are presented in a hypothetical case before a judge, tribunal member or arbitrator.

You can participate in a wide range of mooting competitions to help you develop legal knowledge, research and communication skills. UQ students compete in both domestic and international competitions that feature a range of legal issues such as contractual disputes, breaches of constitutional powers and human rights claims.

Coached by academic staff and alumni, UQ’s mooting teams have achieved tremendous success in the most prestigious competitions around the globe year after year.

In 2019, UQ triumphed at the International Maritime Law Arbitration Moot competition, winning it for the second consecutive year and the sixth time overall. UQ law students were also victorious at our first appearance in the Alfred Deakin International Commercial Arbitration Moot.

In 2020, the UQ team members gained status as Grand Champions in the Sir Harry Gibbs Constitutional Law Moot. UQ was also Grand Champion for the third time in the 2021 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Students’ Moot at the Federal Court of Australia in Brisbane.

In 2018, the UQ team was crowned World Champions of the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition in Washington DC, USA, out of an impressive 600 competing teams.

This was the third time UQ had won this prestigious competition, which is the world’s oldest and largest international moot competition.

In 2020, the UQ team members gained status as Grand Champions in the Sir Harry Gibbs Constitutional Law Moot. UQ was also Grand Champion for the third time in the 2021 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Students’ Moot at the Federal Court of Australia in Brisbane.
Bachelor of Laws (Honours)

The Bachelor of Laws (Honours) (LLB(Hons)) prepares you for success in the legal profession. Distinguished by rigour, depth and conceptual sophistication, you will develop knowledge and skills that can be used to shape societies, governments and, ultimately, the world.

Why law at UQ?
Our courses are taught in seminar settings where you will have the opportunity to expand your knowledge with your peers and lecturers in an active learning environment. The Forgan Smith Building has been refurbished specifically for law students. The informal learning spaces are popular as they provide a comfortable environment to study alone or in groups.

You will graduate with an internationally respected honours qualification, with advanced knowledge and skills that are transferable across a wide range of careers. Your degree will set you apart in a competitive job market while also providing a pathway to future research or learning.

What you will study
The LLB(Hons) program offers a thorough understanding of the concepts, principles, policies and values of the law, both in Australia and other jurisdictions. It strives to develop outstanding skills in critical, rational and analytical thinking, and will teach you to craft clear and persuasive arguments — skills that will be valuable in whatever career path you choose.

In addition to the courses required for professional admission, the diverse range of elective courses and exclusive co-curricular activities will provide opportunities to put the knowledge you have acquired in the classroom into practice.

Career opportunities
Legal practitioners
After completing a Bachelor of Laws (Honours) from UQ, you must also satisfy the practical legal training requirements before you can be admitted as a legal practitioner.

Examples of career opportunities include:

Solicitor
Solicitors (as sole practitioners or in law firms) are usually the first point of contact for members of the public seeking legal advice and representation. Solicitors are also employed by businesses, government, and community, and international bodies to provide legal advice and representation, prepare legal documents, develop policy and advise on legal reform issues.

Barrister
Barristers represent their clients’ interests in court proceedings as specialist advocates. Barristers work independently and usually specialise in particular areas of the law. They also provide oral or written advice on matters within those areas.

International recognition
The LLB(Hons) fulfills the academic requirements for admission as a legal practitioner throughout Australia. Students from Singapore, Malaysia or India may use the program to fulfill the academic qualifications required for admission to the legal profession in their home countries. Once admitted in Australia, international students may need to complete conversion modules to be eligible for admission in their home countries.
Industry
In addition to being a prerequisite for legal practice, the analytical and research skills you develop in this program will help you secure a career in many other sectors, including:

Government
Law graduates work in various sectors of state and federal government. They can work as legal officers within government departments or may be involved in developing or administering government policy. They may also embark on a career in the diplomatic and foreign service.

Corporate
Many law graduates work as in-house lawyers for large companies, where they undertake work in a wide variety of areas such as corporate governance, insurance, environmental compliance, and employment law.

Business
Using their law program — often combined with a business management, commerce or economics program — many graduates undertake careers in the business world in areas such as investment banking, insurance, property development and management. Others pursue careers in the consulting or advisory services industry, working to provide solutions for a wide range of clients.

Community support and social development
Graduates can use their law program, combined with any other program, to work for industry associations, lobby and environmental groups, social service groups, think tanks, community service organisations, legal aid and community legal centres.

Academia
Law graduates are well equipped to pursue careers in academia. Those with a passion for research and teaching can pursue further study and seek positions where they can contribute to legal scholarship while educating the next generation of legal practitioners.

Honours
Honours is awarded to all graduates of this program in the following classes (based on GPA): Class I, Class IIA, Class IIB, Class IIIA, Class IIIB.

Work-integrated learning

The Faculty of Business, Economics and Law offers students in their final year opportunities to gain work experience with an industry partner for academic credit. Work-integrated learning blends academic theory with workplace practice that aligns with the curriculum to help students apply their skills and prepare to enter the workforce.

Benefits of work-integrated learning

• Gain practical experience and unique industry insights.
• Apply skills and theories you’ve learnt at university to real projects.
• Identify transferable skills for employability.
• Develop an awareness of workplace culture and expectations.

Work-integrated learning options

For business, economics and law students, there are 3 different options to choose from when undertaking a work-integrated learning course.

1. Internship
   Find 100 hours of work experience related to your field of study over a semester through a placement with an industry partner.

2. Industry consulting project
   Work in a team over a semester to complete a response to a project brief provided by an industry partner.

3. Capstone intensive
   Collaborate with students from other disciplines to solve real and complex problems for an industry partner.

“During my internship, I networked with many other students within my discipline as well as people working in the industry. It was good to get an insight into the different types of work experience available through work-integrated learning and how this can open doors to getting a job after university.”

Katie McFadden
Bachelor of Advanced Business (Honours) graduate
As the world around you changes, new and fascinating career opportunities are created every day, and job roles increasingly combine multiple disciplines. Double your opportunities. Improve your employment prospects and broaden your skills and knowledge by studying 2 programs at the same time.

Save time
Graduate with 2 bachelor’s degrees in as little as 4 years — a much shorter time than it would take to study both programs separately.

Strike a balance
Why compromise? Get study/life balance by combining programs that cover career aspirations and topics you’re passionate about. Dual program students appreciate the diversity offered in their 2 different programs.

Benefits of dual programs
A dual program, also called a double degree, will equip you for this evolving job market. It gives you the flexibility to study 2 different disciplines in a much shorter time, by studying only the mandatory courses for each program with fewer or no electives.

A truly global network

Going on an international exchange is a life-changing experience. You could be jetting off to Copenhagen, Boston, Seoul, Osaka, Santiago — in fact, we have more than 130 partner institutes in 30+ countries. Global experiences help you develop independence, maturity and other important life skills that enhance your employability and enrich your global mindset.

Semester-based exchange
Spend a semester living and learning in another country. Living abroad is the adventure of a lifetime. You could learn a new language, live like a local, and create friendships that will last forever. Your studies will count towards your degree just as if you undertook them at UQ.

Short-term experiences
If a full semester or year of exchange is not for you, you might prefer a short-term experience. You can study a course for 2-6 weeks overseas during the winter or summer break, and you may be able to get credit for it too.

Learn a language
In a global economy, the ability to communicate with a wide range of people is invaluable. Undergraduate students can study a Diploma in Languages alongside any UQ program.

International internships
Imagine jetting off to Tokyo, Buenos Aires, or London for an international internship. That means a real workplace, with a real role, working on real projects in other countries. Learn on the job while you enjoy exploring new neighbourhoods, discovering local delights and making lifelong friends. Some internships are offered virtually.

Worldwide networks
UQ has more than 311,000 graduates living in 187 countries. Our alumni are passionate about giving back and investing in our future leaders. You can tap into this powerful network of expert support through mentoring, social experiences and professional development opportunities.

Global Startup AdVentures
Learn alongside a startup in some of the world’s most vibrant startup hot spots including San Francisco, Shanghai, Shenzhen, Tel Aviv and Singapore.

Visit: study.uq.edu.au/enhance-your-employability to discover how you can take your studies globetrotting.
“Receiving a scholarship has reassured me that there is always help available to those who work hard. I thought I may have to defer and seek full-time employment to help my family; however, the scholarship has allowed me to focus on pursuing my studies.”

Apply for a scholarship

Make your UQ experience more affordable with the support of a scholarship. You may not think you’re eligible for a scholarship, but you might be surprised.

University-wide scholarships

UQ has a range of scholarships designed to attract, reward and support students from all walks of life. Our scholarships develop and encourage tomorrow’s leaders and offer support to students who might not otherwise be able to attend university. If you’re completing Year 12 in 2023, or you completed Year 12 in 2022 and are on a gap year, you may be eligible to apply for a scholarship.

UQ Academic Scholarships

The UQ Academic Scholarships scheme offers 2 flagship undergraduate scholarships: UQ Vice-Chancellor’s Scholarships and UQ Excellence Scholarships.

Equity scholarships

UQ strongly believes all students deserve equal access to education. Equity scholarships are designed to support students from low socio-economic, disadvantaged or under-represented backgrounds.

Indigenous scholarships

At UQ, we don’t want anything to stand in the way of Indigenous students pursuing university education. The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Education Scholarship scheme offers a range of scholarships to support your studies and help you thrive.

Study area scholarships

Many scholarships are offered for certain academic disciplines. These scholarships might be for students enrolled in a specific degree, school or faculty, or for students who are researching or studying a particular topic.

Employability

UQ offers a variety of grants and loans to help you participate in a range of enriching international and domestic experiences that will enhance your employability.

Sporting

Elite athlete support

UQ is an elite athlete-friendly university, supporting more than 200 elite-level student-athletes to manage their sport and studies. Dedicated UQ Sport staff, in partnership with UQ, provide academic liaison support to negotiate flexible options for enrolment, assessment and course-related needs.

Business, Economics and Law scholarships

Warren Braxton Bannister Bursaries in Economics

For domestic or international students who have experienced financial hardship and demonstrate either academic achievement or the potential to succeed in the study of economics.

Award value: minimum $3,000

International

For international students wanting to study business, economics or law at UQ, a range of scholarships is offered.

Business Scholarship for Chinese Students

This scholarship is to encourage and support a Chinese student in their business studies.

Award value: $1,000

Thomas A Plein Endowed Scholarship

For US citizens who are enrolled in an undergraduate or postgraduate business, economics or law program.

Award value: minimum $3,000

Global Leaders Scholarship

The Global Leaders suite of scholarships is offered to high-achieving international students from various countries/regions across the globe.

Award value: refer to individual scholarship rules

Law Scholarships for International Students – Undergraduate

High-achieving international students seeking admission into either the undergraduate Bachelor of Laws (Honours) (LLB(Hons)) or a dual degree program that includes the LLB(Hons).

Award value: 2 scholarships are on offer, for either 25 per cent or 50 per cent of the laws component of your degree program

Domestic

UQ Law School Leadership, Excellence and Diversity (LEAD) Scholarship

For students wishing to study law who have experienced educational, social and/or financial challenges, or are from a rural or regional area.

Award value: $8,000 per year for up to 5 years, as well as a dedicated academic mentor and a support network through non-residential membership of a UQ college.

TC Beirne School of Law Scholarship

For a student facing financial hardship seeking admission into either the undergraduate Bachelor of Laws (Honours) (LLB(Hons)) or a dual degree program that includes the LLB(Hons).

Award value: up to $5,000

McGough Robertson Endowed Scholarship for Law Students

Awarded to full-time law students on the basis of academic merit; demonstrated disadvantage including social, physical or economic disadvantage; cultural diversity; and personal qualities.

Award value: minimum $3,000

Schools of Business and Economics

• Instagram (@Uniofqld) or Snapchat (Uniofqld) your UQ experience to your friends.

* This information applies to domestic students. If you are an international student, please visit study.uq.edu.au/admissions.
Plan your finances

University is a valuable investment in your future. Knowing what it costs will help you manage your money.

Fees and costs

Course fees and student contributions

Most undergraduate places for domestic students at UQ are funded partly by the Australian Government (Commonwealth support) and partly by you (student contribution). You need a Unique Student Identifier (USI) to obtain a Commonwealth-supported place.
usi.gov.au

Fees are determined by the courses you choose, not the program you’re enrolled in, so there is no fixed fee for a program. Because most students can choose different electives during their program, costs will vary. However, indicative annual fees are listed with each program on our Study website to help you plan your expenses.

If you’re an Australian or New Zealand citizen, or an Australian permanent humanitarian visa holder and have a Commonwealth-supported place, you may also qualify for the Higher Education Loan Program (HELP) to defer payment of your student contribution and Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF). You will need a tax file number to obtain a HELP loan.
ato.gov.au

International students pay full tuition fees. If you have a Commonwealth supported place, your student contribution amount depends on the fee band level of the courses you choose (see table above right).

Student Services and Amenities Fee

The Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF) is a compulsory fee that goes toward non-academic services for students, such as support services, advocacy, study skills, career development and employability.

UQ levies the SSAF — which was capped at a maximum of $326 for 2023 — according to whether you’re an internal or external student. The fee is indexed annually.

QTAC CODE
A unique code number assigned by Queensland Tertiary Admissions Centre (QTAC) to each individual undergraduate university program. You will need to use this number on your QTAC application.

UQ CODE
A unique identifying number assigned by UQ for each academic program.

MINIMUM SELECTION THRESHOLD 2023 ATAR / IBAS
The minimum (adjusted) selection threshold is the minimum score that was considered for an offer of a place to all applicants.

IBAS
International Baccalaureate Admission Score.

ATAR
The Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) is the standard measure of overall school achievement used in all Australian states and territories. It is a rank indicating a student’s position overall relative to other students. The ATAR is expressed on a 2,000-point scale from 99.95 (highest) down to 30.00, in increments of 0.05. The ATAR replaced the Overall Position (OP) as the standard pathway to tertiary study for Queensland Year 12s in 2021.

ADJUSTMENT FACTORS
Previously referred to as ‘bonus points’, these are a numerical value added to or used in combination with an ATAR. Common adjustment factors may include subject adjustments, enrichment studies, or educational disadvantage.

Adjusted
The lowest ATAR to which an offer was made to recent school leavers including any adjustment factors that may have been applied.

Unadjusted
The lowest ‘raw’ ATAR to which an offer was made to recent school leavers, excluding any adjustment factors.

DURATION
The time it takes to complete a program when it is studied full-time.

Full-time
The standard study load is 8 units per semester. Full-time study is 75 per cent or more of the standard study load (i.e. 6 units per semester for most programs).

Part-time
Part-time study load is less than 75 per cent of the standard study load (i.e. fewer than 6 units per semester for most programs).

START SEMESTER
The academic year at UQ is divided into 2 main semesters. Semester 1 starts at the end of February and Semester 2 starts at the end of July.

CAMPUS
One of 3 UQ teaching sites where the majority of lectures are held.

HONOURS
At UQ, honours may be awarded as a one-year bachelor’s honours degree after you have completed a bachelor’s degree, or as a single bachelor’s honours degree typically taking 4 years of study. Some undergraduate programs allow eligible students to transfer to a bachelor’s honours degree at a defined point in the bachelor’s degree. This box shows whether honours is available with a program.

DUAL PROGRAM
Two UQ degree programs undertaken at the same time (sometimes known as dual / parallel / combined / double degree). This box lists dual programs you can choose to study with a program.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS
Some programs require you to have completed specific subjects (or their equivalent) at school. Some also have additional requirements.
UQ offers more than 140 exciting undergraduate programs to help build your dream career. For more details, check out our range of publications, or go to study.uq.edu.au
