Offered for the first time in Queensland from 2017

BACHELOR OF POLITICS, PHILOSOPHY AND ECONOMICS (HONOURS)*

From 2017, The University of Queensland will join the distinguished group of world-leading universities that offer a Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics (PPE). This elite program has provided the foundation for many stellar careers including those of former UK Prime Minister David Cameron and former Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser.

Our four-year honours program will be limited to a small, highly-motivated and high-achieving cohort aspiring to create change through a leadership role in politics, business, the community or academia.

You will study together as a cohort of PPE specialists, drawing on an historical, social, political and economic knowledge base to examine current and future global challenges and the world's 'wicked problems'.

We offer an integrated, cross-disciplinary perspective that combines broad and rigorous training in the foundations of all three disciplines.

In your fourth year, you may choose to specialise in one particular discipline, earning a major in either politics, philosophy or economics.

You will have the opportunity to take part in work placements at leading agencies both in Australia and overseas and to study for a semester at one of our international partner universities.

Upon graduation you will possess a globally-recognised Level 8 Australian Qualifications Framework Honours degree which will give you a highly competitive edge.

Graduate careers include analytical and decision-making positions in the public, private and not-for-profit sectors such as: economic or social analyst, policy-maker, commentator, political adviser and in international affairs and the diplomatic services. Graduates will also be well prepared for postgraduate study.
